

Sherlock Holmes (TL)

Watson

I haven't slept all night. Not a wink. Why I ever believed... that I would get to have tea with Mary's parents is beyond me, having been talked into going with you.

Holmes

We were set upon, it was self-defence.

Watson

I've been reviewing my notes, of our exploits over the last seven months. Would you like to know my conclusion? I am psychologically disturbed.

Holmes

How so?

Watson

Why else would I be continually led into situations where you deliberately, withhold your plans from me? Why else?

Holmes

You never complained about my methods before.

Watson

I'm not complaining.

Holmes

You're not? What do you call this?

Watson

How...How am I complaining? I never complain. When do I ever complain about you practising the violin at three in the morning. Or your mess, your general lack of hygiene or the fact that you steal all my clothes.

Holmes

We have a barter system.

Watson

When do I complain about you setting fire to my room?

Holmes

Our rooms.

Watson

The rooms! When do I ever complain that you experiment on my dog?

Holmes

Our dog! It's our dog.

Watson

On the contrary... the dog! But what I do take issue with is your campaign to sabotage my relationship with Mary.

Holmes

I understand.

Watson

Do you?

Holmes

I do.

Watson

I don't think you do.

Holmes

You're overly tired.

Watson

Yes.

Holmes

You're feeling a bit sensitive.

Watson

I'm not sensitive.

Holmes

What you need is to rest. My brother, Mycroft, has a small estate near Chichester. Beautiful grounds..... We could go there...

Watson

We? Holmes, if I were to go to the country it would be with my future wife.

Holmes

Well certainly, if you must bring her along...

Watson

No, not you, Mary and I. You are not...

Holmes

What? Invited? Why would I be not be invited to my own brother's country home, Watson? Now you are not making any sense!

Watson

You're not human!

Guard

John Watson?

Watson

Yes.

Guard

Your bail has been posted.

Watson

Mary!

Guard

Just Watson.
