

If These Walls Could Talk 2-1

R/F

Jill

Oh, Chris I forgot to tell you that your mom called you last night.

Chris

Sorry. How long did she keep you on the phone?

Jill

We just hung up. Your mother is so special. She was telling me some story about how in the sixties women drew their mouth's up at the corner so that they always looked like they were smiling. She also wanted to know if you were coming home for your brothers little rehab party. I went to Barn's and Noble today. I found the best books on prenatal care, diet, everything.

Chris

Yep.

Jill

What is wrong with you?

Chris

I just saw Jim.

Jill

And.

Chris

Ah, basically he said see ya. Wouldn't wanna be ya. Then he gave me money.

If These Walls Could Talk 2-2

Jill

Well I'd really like to know what he thinks you're gonna do with that.

Chris

What do you think he expects me to do with it? (beat) I don't know maybe he's right.

Jill

(beat) What the hell are you saying? What do you mean you think he's right? You don't even believe in abortion.

Chris

Alright I'm a hypocrite okay. I'm a hypocrite and a fucking coward, but I can't go through with this.

Jill

So let me just get this right, are you trying to tell me that you've decided to kill your baby?

Chris

Why is this so important to you?

Jill

This isn't. You are. My god, we've been friends...we've been friends since...eighty-eight, it's ninety-six now, what is that?

Chris

That would be eight and a half years.

If These Walls Could Talk 2 - 3

Jill

Eight and a half years.

Chris

That's eight and a half years and you still suck at math, girlfriend.

Jill

I still suck at math but I am damn good at you Chris. Listen to me. Chris I know you alright, I know that if you...I know that if you get this abortion you are not gonna be able to live with yourself. All I'm asking you is to please think about what you're doing.

Chris

Think about it? I'm ten weeks. Ten weeks already. How long you want me to think?

Jill

You get this abortion and I swear to you, you are on your own.
